WHEREAS Georgia enjoys coastal natural resources of enormous value to its citizens, and WHEREAS these resources are a vital source of diverse marine life essential to our Nation, WHEREAS Georgia attracts millions of visitors annually who are drawn to our coast's natural, cultural, and historic amenities, and who support thousands of jobs here, WHEREAS Georgia's ports are a significant source of commerce and economic vitality, and WHEREAS Georgia's agricultural sector is a major economic force benefiting the state, and WHEREAS Georgia's natural resources, public infrastructure, coastal communities, and agricultural sector are vulnerable to changes in weather patterns caused by global trends, and WHEREAS an overwhelming number of qualified scientists have reported that the earth's climate is warming and that human activities are largely contributing to that trend, and WHEREAS the governors of our neighboring states of South Carolina and Florida have initiated climate change action programs to address these issues, and WHEREAS Georgia is in an advantageous position to benefit from the vast economic and employment potential of alternatives fuels such a fiber-based ethanol and clean alternative power sources such as wind, solar and tidal energy; and WHEREAS these new technologies will not only create jobs and investment opportunities but they will save the government, taxpayers, and consumers millions of dollars in the future cost of energy, health services, and environmental remediation;

Governor Perdue commit Georgia to developing a strategy to reduce threats to our citizens
